Design and Analysis of Clinical Trials

7 - 10 February 2023

This winter school brings together experts in clinical trial methodology. International researchers and trial professionals will share their knowledge in a number of advanced lectures. Participants are introduced to current methods, targeting the needs of those who currently perform a clinical trial or may consider getting involved in the future. Several workshop sessions will allow clinicians and statisticians to collaborate and gain hands-on experience in clinical trials design and analysis.
